RILEY GRANNAN FIRES THE FIRST GUN AT NEW ORLEANS MONDAY.

This Is Your Opportunity for Honest Turf Investment.

We guarantee you will get your profits when you win. We guarantee we will spend thousands to get winners for you.

We guarantee you will get a run for your money every time we bet for you. But We do not guarantee that we will win for you every week. Because

The best horse does not always win, and we may lose for you occasionally. Yet We are cock sure we will get the money for you in the run, and We are absolutely confident we will start off with a winning streak.

We will put the first bet down for our clients on Monday afternoon, February 16, at New Orleans. We will continue to place it daily until the end of the New Orleans race meeting, March 21. This will cover thirty racing days.

We have selected the last thirty racing days of the Crescent City meeting as the best to launch the Riley Grannan enterprise because twenty years of racing experience has taught Mr. Grannan and his associates that the best results are to be obtained during the latter period of any meeting. The early part of the New Orleans meeting proved a Waterloo for the talent. Track conditions, chameleonlike, changed with the weather from day to day to a degree that made all betting calculations more or & less hypothetical. While the rank and file frittered their money away gambling in the face of such uncertainties, we waited. The track engineers have now gotten the course into such perfect shape that no matter how much rainfall there may be or how little, there is no "path"; all parts of the track are the same and the best horse can win every race.

The last thirty days of the meeting are bound to prove the best thirty from the professional bettor's standpoint, from the standpoint, we mean, of the track sharps, the public form experts, and the trainers. At an expense of two thousand dollars a week we have organized a force of clockers who have been timing the horses in their workouts for the past three weeks, and have connected ourselves with a score of trainers, all of whom are working, and have been working for weeks, under the guidance of Riley Grannan to land for our clients a succession of winners beginning Monday.

Monday our first horse faces the flag. He is not a 20 to 1 shot. Undoubtedly we will land many long shot before the Riley Grannan company is a month old. But the Riley Grannan company is not playing with gambler's dice and cannot and will not aim at high game at the ge-off. We are satisfied. and we know the racing fraternity of the country will be satisfied, if we land fair priced winners at the outset and feel our way as we go, never venturing the hard-earned money of our subscribers on likely long-priced winners until offents are "on velvet."

At this writing, for Monday, our opening day, we have but one horse in view. He stands out as a sound betting proposition in the field he will be asked to meet. He will be at odds of about 4 to 1. We venture to say the velection will start our clients on a career of prosperity. He is on edge and has been gotten ready by one of the most experienced trainers at the Crescent City Fair Grounds, a trainer whose methods Mr. Grannan knows to be the best. The race has been selected for him be cause the conditions are easy and it could not have been made to order for him to greater advantage.

On Tuesday we have selected for ours another which, although at possibly a shorter price, appears to be a certainty, and the judges will not have to strain their eyes to see him finishing in the van. In the language of the horse touts, "It's in!"

Later in the week we have a long shot in view, but there will be nothing doing with long shots Monday and Tuesday. We are figuring on certainties for the opening. We propose to land winners and, bar accident, we will

YOU CAN PLAY OUR SELECTIONS OR WE WILL PLAY THEM FOR YOU

The Riley Grannan Company con ducts business on the following basis

If you are in a position to play our selections yourself we undertake to wire you them. If you are not in a position to play your own money we undertake to play it for you. The terms for the information when telegraphed you for your own play are $10 daily, or $60 per week. The terms for the information when we handle your money is $5 per day, or $30 per week, and 5 per cent of your net winnings. The smallest sum we place for any client is $10 on each selection. The smallest account we accept is $100. A remittance of $100 insures a $10 play on each selection; a remittance of $200 insures a $20 play on each selection, and so on. Account clients receive a check weekly for any profits that accrue, and whether the account wins or loses, a ment is mailed to each client weekly.

There is no limit to the amount which may be sent us for play. All accounts are operated continuously until ordered withdrawn. If you cannot reach us by mail in time for the opening day, telegraph your remittance.

SCHRECK TOOK WIND FROM CYCLONE KELLEY

San Francisco Man Showed No Tornadio Qualities and Lost in Fourth Round.

POLICE STOPPED THE BOUT.

Captain Joyce Decided the Affair Was Too One-Sided-Johnny Kelly Won the Preliminary.

Police Captain Peter Joyce handed down the verdict in last evening's battle at the West End Club, instructing Harry Sharpe at the close of the fourth round to end the battle and give the verdict to Schreck. Cyclone Kelly, who altogether falled to live up to his name, was staggering back to his corner at the time and was clearly a beaten man.

Captain Joyce's part in the contest came.

Captain Joyce's part in the contest came somewhat unexpectedly. For the first three rounds of the fight he sat watching the attle with a face on which disapproval was written in every feature.

In the fourth round, when Kelley was staggering about and going down from one tain's countenance so strongly expressed borhood were laughing quietly at his ex-pression. And then the end came.

As the gong rang to close the round, Captain Joyce rose to his feet and mooned to the referee.
"Stop the fight," he ordered, abruptly, not have the lead. Cyclone seemed to have absolutely no vestige of his boasted punch with him. Neither did he show the faintest ability at rounds with Ryan is now a matter of wonderment to spectators who witnessed last sevening's go.

Schreck showed the only cyclonic symptoms in the affair by going in rapidly after Kelley at the opening of the second round. He rushed at the San Francisco man, led with a quick left jab for his stomach and then landed a terrific left swing in the side of Cyclone's face. The latter went down with a thump, sprawling out at full length, and tottered to his feet at the count of seven, badly shaken.

KNOCKED DOWN THREE TIMES. Another high left swing, which landed on Kelley's cheek bone, once more sent the "Cyclone" down. He arose at the count of four, and staggered back against the ropes, where a left swing once more sent him to the floor. For a third time he got to his feet, and was sent down, and it was clear that he was almost out. The gong saved him as he leaned swaying against the ropes.

him as he leaned swaying against the ropes.

Bert Keller, frantic with impatience, jumped into the ring and steered the staggering fighter to his seat. Ammonia, thrust liberally under his nose and showers of water to his head, revived him somewhat, and he went down from a hard left uppercut to the stomach.

The fourth round was a repetition of the third, but as Kelley once went to the floor from sheer weakness, having only been pushed aside in Schreck's efforts to break away from a clinch, he was ordered to get up by the referee without being allowed to take the count. This occurred again at the close of the round, which Schreck ended by sending Kelley once more to the floor with a left swing.

As the gong sounded, Captain Joyce aross and ordered Referee Sharpe to stop the fight. Kelley showed comparatively little signs of the bout, beyond his palpable weakness, although he bled slightly from the mouth as a result of a punch there. At no stage did he have a chance to defeat Schreck, nor did he land as blow in the course of the bout that could have hurt a feather weight.

have been rendered at the close. King is but a boy, looking scarcely more than 16 years old, and was entirely unable to do anything with Kelly, although he punched back gamely when Johnny staggered him with swings and straight punches.

King bled from the mouth midway in the fight and was doubled up several times by hard blows to the stomach. The last four rounds resolved themselves into a procession with Kelly following him around the ring and landing as he pleased. King won applause by taking his punching gamely and endeavoring to fight back. Once or twice he staggered Kelly with wild swings. Johnny was never troubled, however, and won hands down. Paul Fisher refereed the go and very properly gave the verdict to Kelly. It was the only decision possible.

TO DISCUSS GAME LAWS.

Sportsmen Will Meet Next Tuesday Evening and Suggest Legislation. President A. E. Winkelmeyer of the Missouri Game and Fish Protective Association has called a meeting of the body for next Tuesday evening, February 17, at Delabar's Hall, Broadway and Elm streets. Detabar's Hall, Broadway and Elm streets. The matter of game legislation will be brought up and it is announced that the league will take steps to insure good laws and efficient game wardens.

Sportsmen interested in the subject, whether members of the league or not, are invited to attend the meeting. It will commence about 8 o'clock.

ATHLETIC CLUBHOUSE PLANS.

Missouri Body Expects to Be in New Quarters by Middle of April. According to President Marmaduke of the Missouri Athletic Club, quarters for the new organization will be in shape for occupancy from present prospects, by the middle of Arrill. from present prospects, by the middle of April.

It is believed that the new building will be practically ready by the 1st of April and that the final touches may be made in time to have it occupied on that date.

"Our architects tell us that very few changes will be required," said Mr. Marmaduke, "and the installation of our furnishings will be the chief point to be completed, we will have one novelty, and that is, our bowling alleys will be placed in such a position that they will have plenty of light and air.

tion that they will have plenty of light and air.

"Instead of being in the basement, as is generally the case, they will be located immediately under the gymnasium on the fifth floor. A complete floor will be reserved for them, with ventilation on both the Washington avenue and Fourth street sides.

"This will be duite a change from the usual type of alley.

"The gymnasium will be installed on the uppermost floor, which will have a height of 12 feet. This will give abundant air and ventilation."

"Stop the fight," he ordered, abruptly,
"and give that man—" He evidently intended to say "the decision," but the cheers of the crowd for Schreck drowned his words. He motioned at the Cincinnati fighter, however, and Sharpe took the only available course, and held up Mike's hand.
It was the only decision possible.

Telamon was the favorite, but, with Fuller up, the ring was inclined to take libertles with him. He was backed from even money to 5 to 10, but receded to 6 to 5. St. Tammany, at 5 to 2, and Albert F. Dewey, at 13 to 5, were both played heavily to beat him. At post time Hildreth sent a big commission in that forced a cut on Telamon to even money again.

St. Tammany got away in his stride and always held the lead. He crowded Telamon close to the rail in the back stretch and the Hildreth horse got another jam when Albert F. Dewey joined the pair at the stretch bend. At the furlong pole St. Tammany and Dewey were fighting it out three lengths in front of Telamon. When Fuller began riding the latter he responded in grand strice, wore down Dewey, but could not quite get to St. Tammany. Fuller's ride was a weak one.

The heavy and lumpy track beat Henry McDaniel top weight in the third. Odom punished him from start to finish. He was head-and-head with Spec to the last sixteenth. There the latter drew away and won by a length. The books accepted Henry McDaniel wagers, belleving the weight Sportsmen living in this city and thos sportsmen lying in this city and those residents of Missouri whose are interested in hunting and fishing clubs in Arkansas are considerably disturbed by the provision of a drastic game law now before the Arkansas Legislature, which, they claim, will destroy the value of their proprty in that State. State.

The law practically closes the State to nonresident sportsmen by the imposition of a large license fee.

F. B. Gardner of the St. Louis Coffin Com-

F. B. Gardner of the St. Louis Coffin Company has the following to say upon the point:

"Much worthless ground in the St. Francois Bottoms has been leased or purchased by sportsmen from St. Louis and Chicago to be used for hunting and fishing purposes. These purchasers are sportsmen and do not exterminate game as do the pot hunters. Yet the law now under consideration affects these property-owners and sportsmen rather than the pot hunter.

"It seems unjust to close the State to huntsmen. It would only result in making the blace a stamping ground for pot hunters, as these last would then have a clean sweep. Nonresident hunters are perfectly willing to pay a license fee of $10 or thereabouts, but they should not be debarred from the enjoyment of privileges of hunting there altogether."

SELECTED FOR CLASS TEAM. I. W. Barnard Chosen to Compete Against Yale '05 Team.

REPUBLIC SPECIAL

Cambridge, Mass., Feb. 12—L. W. Barnard of Sedalia, who was picked the other day for the Harvard 'varsity track team, has also been selected for the 1905 class team, to compete with the Yale 1905 team. Announcement has just been made of men entitled to wear the coveted "H" in baseball this year. Two of the men are Clarence Walter Randall, '05, of St. Louis, and Orville G. Frantz, '03, Enid, Ok. Randall was one of the 'varsity boys who received a solid gold baseball souvenir at the Athletic Association dinner last night.

All the foregoing are among the most-sought-for athletic honors at Harvard.
